A HOPPY HOOTENANNY OF A PALE ALE

FANDANGO!

Back in 1967, Procol Harum sang that they "skipped the light fandango". But they couldn't have been referring to this hoppy hootenanny of an ale, as no lover of craft beer would skip the chance to savour Fandango's light, citrusy undertones and crowd-pleasing flavour!

a German-style Pilsner which has a more subtle flavour and lighter colour than the traditional Czech style.

We set out to brew a highly drinkable interpretation with noticeable but refined gentle bitterness. We use top-quality German malt and only noble hops. We don't fine, filter or pasteurise giving it a fresh flavour very different from mass-produced brands.

Properly brewed, we use old-school techniques to reduce the alcohol content but maintain a full and refreshing flavour. The addition of modern German hops adds back complexity that is lost with alcohol.

We combine high-quality German malts with American Pacific Northwest hops and the unique California lager yeast to produce a bitter reddish-amber lager. Dry-hopping enhances aromas of wood and mint against the caramel flavours. It's complex for a lager but more subtle than an ale; a delicious and unique hybrid.

Our Hefeweizen was designed to emphasise the unique characteristics of this style without the extra carbonation that can make it difficult to serve. We use a lot of wheat malt: over 75% which makes for a long brew-day since wheat malt has no husk to aid the lautering process. We use a small amount of hops to not overwhelm the other unique flavours. Availability usually alternates with its cousin Dunkelweizen.

Aloha from Bala starts with a traditional Pilsner mash, but includes an extra step at the beginning to allow lactic acid to build up.

This provides the sourness that complements the Australian aroma hops. Bitterness comes from traditional German noble hops in the kettle.

Aroma hops are later added to the whirlpool and fermenter. This unique experiment has proven so popular that it is now part of our core range of beers..

salopian BREWERY

Salopian beers have a distinct style, they are usually full bodied, aromatic and well balanced. The malt, water, yeast and hops used are always sourced from the same suppliers and the beers produced will naturally show similar characteristics.

Salopian Brewery was founded as Snowdonia Brewery in 1994 by Brewer Martin Barry at his Pub in North Wales. In 1995 he relocated to Shrewsbury and renamed it Salopian (meaning of Shrewsbury). At that time it was the smallest commercial brewery in the country (not attached to a Pub) with a 2 barrel brewlength.
